Tips

- 1 Give us a range of work to look at, from work you might have done at school to creative projects you did outside of school or within your community.
- 2 It's good to provide notes about the ideas behind your work and how these ideas were translated into their final form.
- 3 Please do not include items such as art history assignments or testimonials in your application.
- 4 If you are providing links to your work that is online, please include live links within your PDF.

There are no limits, we are looking for creative brilliance in the applicant's field of interest. The panel may request further examples of creative works.

* This can be from a local community leader, a teacher or principal, church leader, elder or other respected cultural leader. You can either provide a letter, or the contact details of a nominated referee, including phone number, that the panel may call.
